

Bootless is an original country / southern rock band based in Charleston, South Carolina. Formed in 2012 by experienced musicians, Bootless successfully blends country lyrics with rock-and-roll swagger. Their music ranges from traditional country to straight up southern rock and roll. Lyrical subject matter may include the following: beer, beaches, boots (or lack thereof), mud slingin' and shotgun blasts. Real country stuff.

The musicians of Bootless are: Curtis Craven, Mario Valenta, Tad Fletcher and Jeremy Cone

Press Quotes:

"The hardest part of offering a platform on radio for local/regional Country leaning artists is getting music to play. Much of it, I find online. That's where I found Bootless. I was surfing through pages on Reverb Nation when I found the band. Contemporary sound. Solid vocals. Well written songs. I was surprised they were a local act. "Well So" was immediately on my playlist. I play one of their tracks almost every week on our Carolina Country Show. I'm excited about seeing them perform live. Got their new CD and look forward to many more."

- TJ Phillips, 103.5 WEZL

"Bootless is a band that has the ability to energize the crowd and make them want more. A high energy explosion of really good music."

- Eddie White, Awendaw Green

"These guys know how to throw a party Low Country STYLE! Glad to hear a great band keepin it country! Love the Bootless Band!"

- Bill West, Nash 96.9FM

"A Fresh, original sound with relatable lyrics - we loved jamming with Bootless on Lowcountry Live!"

- Rachel Cushing, Producer, WCIV-TV Lowcountry LIVE!

"Through their music and stage presence they displayed a seamless blend of both vocals and instruments. While they may have appeared to be just having fun, the level of musical expertise with which they performed every song was indicative of long rehearsal hours and a lot of hard work."

- Stephen Vail, Charleston and Lowcountry .com Journalist
